Merchants Squarely Behind Amarillo Editor

WILL INCREASE AD RATES TO PAY HOWE BIGGER WAGE

GENE HOWE'S CRITICISM MARY GARDEN BOOSTS HIS INFLUENCE

Amarillo, Texas, April 17.—So pleased are the merchants of this town over Editor Gene Howe's efforts to 'bring real culture to the plains of the cow country" that they have agreed to pay higher advertising rates in order to assure him of a salary commensurate with that of Mary Garden.

Howe recently criticised Mary Garden in his column, the "Tactless Texan," appearing in the Amarillo Globe-News, for her part in the presentation of the Chicago Civic Opera company's "Thais." She retaliated with the remark that she makes more in a week ringing than Howe makes in a year pounding his typewriter.

Amarillo merchants, resenting this line of attack, voluntarily offered to have their advertising rates increased if Howe will say that his paper is not making the profit it should. Moreover, the guarantors of the opera presentation declared that they will refuse to pay the deficit of $1,600 sustained when the Chicago Civic Opera company presented "Thais" here. They claim the presentation here was cut and the performers failed to put on the snow that they put on in the big cities.

Mayor Ernest Thompson, one of the sixteen guarantors, said:

"We would not hesitate a minute to pay up if the opera presentation was what it was purported to be, but now we dare the Chicago Civic Operat company to sue us. The entire city is behind the guarantors and Mr. Howe. In fact, a big banquet in Mr. Howe's honor is planned.

"Amarillo is proud of the fact that it has an editor who will come out and tell the truth in a case of this kind, and the business men appreciate everything that Mr. Howe, or Kernel Tack, as he is called here, has done for Amarillo."

Ice Station To Open Thursday

The uptown ice service station of the Southland Ice company will be opened Thursday morning with James Scott in charge, Dan Scott, local manager announced Wednesday. Patrons will find this station open during the day, and after it closes, service may be had at the local plant, Mr. Scott said.

The local station in the business district is located on West Virginia street and is convenient to the many patrons who prefer not to go to the plant for their ice or have it delivered to their homes.

JOHN FRANCIS SHOWS COMING TO COUNTY FAIR

PRESIDENT GLEN STIFF SAYS NOTED ORGANIZATION UNDER CONTRACT

A regular jam of carnival fans greeted the American Legion's presentation of the John Francis Shows, Inc., on the Temple-Belton pike, last night. Various appealing attractions kept the throng in a merry mood and the legionnaires were delighted with the first night's performance.

The shows which appeared here some two years ago, are well known to the amusement-seeking public of Temple and come this year "bigger and better than ever."—Temple Telegram.

To Furnish Fair Amusements.

The above referred to John Francis shows have been contracted for by President Glen Stiff to provide the amusements for the 12th annual Collin County fair to be held at McKinney in October. John Francis has been a leader in this form of amusements for many years, says President stiff. He offers clean entertainment of the carnival variety and the verdict of those who have attended his shows indicate that it is the best road show of its kind that is making county and district fairs through the South.

HISTORIC WOOD GAVEL AND STRIKING BLOCK

PRESENTED TO McKINNEY MASONIC LODGE BY TWO MEMBERS

At a recent meeting of the St. Johns Lodge No. 51 A. F. and A. M. of McKinney a gift of unusual appropriateness and appreciation was received by the lodge.

It was a striking block and gavel of wood made from parts taken from the roof of the White House at Washington, D. C., when that structure was re-constructed during 1927. The White House was erected in 1812 just one hundred and ten years previous to its reconstruction during the administration of Calvin Coolidge.

The gavel is a replica of the gavel that was used by George Washington, first president, when he was worshipful master of the lodge at Alexandria, Va., near the national capital.

The handle of the gavel is fastened into the mallet by a three-penny square iron nail that was used in the construction of the White House over a century ago.

The nail also came from the roof of the White House.

The striking block is two inches thick by six inches square. The gavel and striking block both are made of pine wood and were obtained and presented to the McKinney Masonic Lodge by Past Master Will J. Rhea of that lodge and Past Master W. L. Brown of the Plano lodge who is now a member of the St Johns Lodge here.

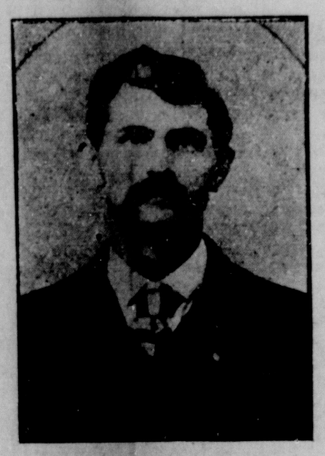
The entire membership of the St Johns Lodge is very grateful to those two thoughtful members and past masters for these trophies that are so appropriate and useful in any Masonic Lodge. They will be retained and prized through the years by St. Johns Lodge as two of the most cherished possessions of this old McKinney fraternity.

It is a thought worthy of contemplation that the wood from this striking block and gavel has helped to cover the heads of a number of our presidents throughout the life of the nation who were faithful and enthusiastic Masons and dovotees of that ancient fraternity.

Mrs. Orlia J. Moss is spending a few days with friends and relatives in Celina this week.

MEADOR NAMED HEAD ESCORT FOR WOODMEN ORDER

NAMED OFFICIAL OF BIG FRATERNAL BODY



E. C. (DINK) MEADOR.

Constable E. C. (Dink) Meador of this city is being congratulated by his numerous friends here and over the county on his re-election as head escort at the State Woodmen of the World convention held last week in Mineral Wells. He has held this important state office for the past four years and his re-election to the same office is proof of the fact of his high estimation and high standing among the members of the State W. O. W. body.

Mr. Meador and wife, both attended the Mineral Wells convention, Mrs. Meador being a delegate from the circle here. On their return home they stopped at Graham, where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mrs. and Mrs. Rommie Martin, who formerly lived in McKinney.

Mr. Meador has been a member of the Woodmen of the World lodge for thirty-two years, being a charter member of Magnolia camp, W. O. W. lodge in McKinney. On the night he was initiated a member of that order, thirty-two years ago, he was elected to office and since that time he has been an office-holder in the local Woodmen lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Meador had a most enjoyable visit and met many former Collin county and McKinney people on their visit to Mineral Wells, one of them being Dr. Drury, now of Mineral Wells, but formerly of McKinney.

29 REGISTERED JERSEYS TO SELL AT SHERMAN

FRIDAY, APR. 19—COL. GEORGE APPLE AUCTIONEER ON BLOCK

The Sherman Democrat has the following item of interest to Jersey breeders and farmers of Collin county:

"O. W. Worthley, manager of the Grayson County Live stock association's twenty-third semi-annual sale speaking before members of the association in their monthly meeting Saturday afternoon declared that the splendid offers which will be made Friday afternoon warrant a great deal of interest in these animals. Registered Jersey cattle to the total of 29 entires will be placed on the block by auctioneer George Apple of McKinney at 1 o'clock Friday at the Red River Valley fair grounds.

"In his talk before the association Mr. Worthley stated that the semi-annual sale is not merely a means of advertising those who are consigners, but does more to advertise the live stock association of Grayson county than any other medium which can be used. Furthermore, he added, it draws breeders together and acts as a sort of spring fair. The sale offers also, a sort of index of supply and demand, a demonstration in the value of dairy animals based on the judgment of many breeders.

Col. Apple, who will take charge of the sale proper, is a veteran auctioneer who knows cattle as well as he knows auctioneering. He is especially well posted on the Jersey breed, both as a judge of the individual and of the pedigree. Ladies of Bob Finer's Bible class will serve lunch at the sale grounds at 12 o'clock, thus enabling those who expect to attend the sale to be present promptly at 1 o'clock.

Registration papers will be furnished with each animal sold, the purchase price of each being held by the association until all papers are delivered to the purchasers. All of them will have been tuberculin tested within thirty days prior to the sale date, and extended pedigrees will be purchasable through the association.

Consigners for the sale are W. R. Dunn, Sr., Sherman; Otto Russell, Whitewright; J. R. Oliver, Whitewright; Y. R. George, Howe; O. D Worthley, Sherman; J. C. George, Howe; C. W. Holloway, Howe; C. L. Noland, Whitesboro, and Carl Umphress, Van Alstyne.

Besides the McKinney team of five members, other competing squads will be present from Dallas, Fort Worth, while individuals will be present to enter the events from Greenville, Sherman, Denton, and other North Texas cities.

The general public has a cordial invitation to attend this match and to see some of the expert shots of North Texas take part. There will be six events, the target in one of the events being the dummy of a highway bandit.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand Friday afternoon for this event.

LEADERS NOT PLEASED WITH HOOVER PLAN

PLAN NOW TO TACK ON AMENDMENT COVERING TARIFF BOUNTY SCHEME

Washington, April 17.—The house met today to make its administration farm bill the unfinished business and the senate was in recess while its agriculture committee continued a fight over the far-reaching debenture plan.

Publicity disappointed at President Hoover's farm views expressed in his message, some Republican members of the senate committee were reported to be preparing to tack on the debenture or tariff bounty scheme as an amendment to the administration measure. They said Mr. Hoover had not mentioned the plan in his message, that two of the experts of the agriculture department have testified it was successful in Germany and Norway, and that the expected repudiation of the plan from Secretary of Agriculture Hyde has failed to materialize.

Chairman McNary frankly expressed the opinion the committee was favorable to the plan and would report the administration bill with it included. He expects a vote in the committee before nightfall.

If the debenture plan is added to the bill by the senate committee, a serious fight is certain to develop. This plan would provide that farmers get a bounty from wheat exported; that this bounty be paid in the form of negotiable certificates to be redeemed by the treasury in payment of tariff duties on imported products. The idea is to make the tariff directly effective for the benefits of the farm.

FREE LIBRARY TAG DAY SATURDAY, APRIL 20—SPONSORED BY LOCAL FEDERATED CLUB WOMEN OF CITY

The same reasons which justify the support of free public schools by general taxation justify the establishment and support of free, public libraries. They, like the schools, are necessary to the securement of an intelligent citizenship.—Horace Mann Towner, governor of Porto Rico.

Saturday, April 20, has been designated as Tag day for the benefit of the public library in the McKinney court house.

This event is intended by the City Federation, which is sponsoring it, to give an opportunity to the general public to contribute their mites for the support of this very worthy institution that has been established by the public-spirited men, women, boys and girls, who have donated books to the cause, resulting in the establishment of a nucleus around which more books and literature are being added almost every week until, as it is hoped, McKinney will have a free public library that will be in keeping with the high order of intelligence and educational aspirations of our splendid people.

The ladies of the Federated clubs and all friends to our public library among the rich and poor, the high and low, men women and children, are urged and invited to help in their donations in getting together needed funds to pay the librarian and to add new volumes to the splendid collection of books that have already been accumulated.

"Let us so organize our libraries for education that we may provide for all people a means for a continuing education, a source for recreation, and a democratic institution serving all who come. PROF. RICHARDSON DECLINES CELINA SCHOOL AGAIN

After seven years as superintendent of Celina schools, T. F. Richardson has declined re-election and has accepted an offer elsewhere, which he feels that he could not pass up. The Celina school board has orgarized with A. S. Klinglesmith as president, Walter Nichol, vice president, and B. H. Rucker, secretary. John Willock, B. H. Rucker and Walter Nichol were all recently elected as new aldermen.
Rev. L. T. Grumbles was re-elected as tax assessor and collector.
Prof. Richardson's departure from Collin county will be sincerely regretted. He is a capable educator and a most affable gentleman socially. He made a splendid record at Celina, whose school steadily advanced in efficiency under his direction.

GOSPEL HEALING SERVICES TO OPEN HERE SUNDAY

Evangelist P. W. Shaver and company will open an old-time revival and gospel of healing meeting in the city coliseum tabernacle beginning Sunday at 7:45 p. m.
Shaver with the assistance of his wife will pray for the sick on the platform according to James 5:14. They have seen in their services many wonderful healings in answer to prayer and have established two large churches in Denton and Denison, Texas.
They invite and solicit the cooperation of ministers and christians from all denominations. Shaver is a young man, but an old-time preacher, and also a fundamentalist and interdenominationalist.
Old-time gospel songs will be used and a big choir led by Evangelist J. D. Roselle, special singer and musician. The tabernacle will be comfortably seated and the sides curtained so will be warm on cool nights. Shaver invites the public to bring their sick and afflicted to be prayed for. The sick have come in in other places as far as 150 miles to be prayed for and healed in answer to prayer. Everybody welcome.

DENISON HIGH YELLOW JACKETS DEFEAT LIONS

Getting a total of six hits from which they turned into 7 runs, the Denison High Yellowjackets turned the tables on the McKinney High Lions, in Denison, Friday afternoon, defeating the Lions by a score of 2 to 1. McKinney had previously defeated Denison, 16 to 3.
The Lions got only 3 hits. Lanier hurled a splendid game for McKinney, getting nine strike-outs to Grigham's five. Johnson for McKinney and McFerrin for Denison each were accredited with a two-base hit.

J. L. Howell General Merchant At Weston

J. Lee Howell, general merchant of Weston, was in McKinney Monday purchasing supplies from our wholesale grocery houses and trucking them back to his store at Weston. Mr. Howell formerly lived in McKinney. Later lived in Anna, but some months ago he opened up his present mercantile business in the brick building at Weston, formerly occupied by the Weston bank, and is now doing a nice cash business there.
Mr. Howell states that, of course, they miss their local bank at Weston since it closed, but he finds excellent banking facilities here in McKinney, in which town he has to come frequently anyway after his goods that he purchases from our three wholesale grocery houses, and our other wholesale businesses.
Mr. Howell carries a line of groceries, hardware and other lines in a limited way. He bought a home in Weston, in which he and his family are living, but he rents his store building, as above stated.
We have known Lee Howell for a number of years. He is an obliging, capable young business man, with whom the general public likes to trade and we predict that he will build up a large trade at Weston, and in that part of the county. He says that farmers are all very busy and in an optimistic spirit over present farming conditions and the general crop outlook.
J. Lee Howell is a son of J. C. Howell, a respected old McKinney citizen, and a brother of Mrs. J. Webb Nelson, also of this city.
Our readers will remember that Mr. Howell's brother, A. C. Howell met a tragic death near Lubbock on April 2, his clothing having caught fire from burning gasoline and injuring him so seriously that he died at 10 o'clock that same morning. His remains were brought back to his home at Anna for burial in the old Highland cemetery.

Prof. Jack Ryan, city school superintendent, wife and son, Jack Sears Ryan, spent the week-end with relatives of Mrs. Ryan in Whitewright, Texas.

James Oneal of Dallas is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oneal, in this city.

Cleon Kelly, wife and children, Mary L. and Joe Garth, W. S. Giles and Mrs. E. S. Giles, were visitors in McKinney one day this week from their home in the Westminster community.

Mrs. Alex Childress of Dallas came up Saturday and went out to the home of her brother-in-law, H. R. Childress, near Weston to spend the week-end.

Club Women End M'Kinney Session

SELECT OFFICERS AND ADJOURN LATE THURSDAY

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS AT FINAL SESSION IN THE AFTERNOON

After one of the most successful meetings in its history, the twenty-seventh annual Second District Federation of Women's club convention came to a successful close here late Thursday afternoon. The convention opened Tuesday and the three days were filled with busy activity for the more than 200 club women who were here.

Election of Mrs. F. R. Pettengill of Cleburne, president was made at Thursday afternoon's session. Mrs. E. L. Bale of Dallas was named first vice-president; Dr. A. Virginia Spates of Sherman, second vice-president; Mrs. H. C. Cook of Waxahachie, recording secretary. Mrs. Pettengill named Mrs. W. E. Watts of Cleburne corresponding secretary, the convention ratifying the appointment.

Following the state convention next November, Mrs. Pettengill will take office and name appointive officers.

The election Thursday afternoon was in charge of Mrs. H. T. Livingston, chairman of the nominating committee; Mrs. O. E. Wood, Dallas; Mrs. Leonard Keplinger, Waxahachie, teller, and Mrs. R. E. Phillips, Farmersville.

Gainesville Wins 1930 Meeting.

Gainesville will be the hostess city for 1930, the invitation being presented by Mrs. Morton Smith there and bearing the invitation from the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce and other organizations of that city.

Election was merely routine as there was no opposition to the candidates offered by the nominating committee, and all had been announced weeks previously in the press. The ballot box showed that only thirty-nine delegates voted. Final credentials report showed registration of sixty-eight delegates, thirty-six district and state officers and chairmen and more than 100 out-of-town visitors. The convention was one of the largest in the history of the district. Mrs. J. P. Harding and her workers on the local committees provided for every wish of the visitors who praised the hospitality in courtesy resolutions.

J. J. Taylor of the Dallas News, was chief speaker at the program of the press and publicity department, held at luncheon. Mr. Taylor declared that the probable explanation for the disappearance of past civilizations in the fact that the women were inarticulate and took no part in the intellectual life of the times. But the present civilization will continue to improve rather than decline because women have taken their place in world affairs as well as in the home, he said. He decried the popular idea that women value less their husbands, children and homes because they think and act for themselves and have many interests outside of the home.

"The family hearthstone used to be so popular because it was the only fire in the house" he said, "and every member of the family was there because he had no where else to go and little else to do. But modern times have done away with the economic condition that made the hearthstone the gathering place. However, men and women think just as much of their homes as they did in those old days, and their ideals of home have not been lowered because of outside interests."

Miss Evelyn Finty, Dallas singer, gave a group of spring songs, accompanied by Miss Martha Whitaker of Dallas. Special guests at the luncheon included Mrs. J. J. Taylor, Tom W. Perkins of the McKinney Courier-Gazette, F. C. Thompson of the Examiner, Don Bagwill of the Courier-Gazette, and three Dallas newspaper reporters attending the convention, Miss Allena Duff, Miss Mabel Duke and Miss Mary Toomey. Mrs. M. B. Smith of Farmersville, newspaper woman and member of the Texas Federation News editors' board, also publicity chairman of the district, presided. Mrs. E. B. Hurd gave a piano number, "Blue Danube Waltz."

International Relations.

The international relations department was represented by Mrs. W. H. Meyers of Hillsboro, who spoke on peace, and Mrs. Frank Marshall of Hillsboro, chairman. Mrs. Maggie Barry, former national chairman of the American Home, spoke on the American Home program.

Following adjournment many of the delegates visited the new court house to see the library of 2,700 books compiled during last year by the federated clubs. Mrs. J. L. Lovejoy, local president. The club also visited the large rest room for the Collin county club women and the home demonstration agents' department. Jars of relish made in the demonstration kitchen were convention favors.

The report given by the Sesame club of Hillsboro was judged best of all reports of the two days, the club being awarded first prize in the report contest, a copy of "Silver in the Sun" by Grace Noll Crowell, presented by Mrs. H. N. Peters of Waxahachie, program chairman. The prize for the best report by a club from a town of less than 3,000 went to the Woman's Study club of Maypearl. This was "Red Heels," by Lexie Dean Robertson, given by Miss Hattie Neathery of Farmersville, retiring president. A prize of $5 to the club doing the best piece of work was awarded to the Wednesday Morning Choral club, Dallas, for providing thirty-two scholarships for talented students. This was given by Mrs. J. L. Purvin of Farmersville, corresponding secretary. Judges were Mrs. O. L. McKnight, Dallas; Miss Bess Shook, Denton, and Mrs. R. W. Lewin, Denison. The judges recommended that henceforth prizes be given in these classes: College, junior outside of college, small town and city clubs.

Endowment Plans.

The club women of the state will voice at the state convention in Mineral Wells next fall their wishes concerning the Texas Federation's participation in the raising of $2,000,000 endowment for the general federation. Mrs. Maggie W. Barry of College Station, Texas, director, said in explaining the endowment project. The board of trustees conceived the idea, which was approved by the general federation board and which was referred to the State Federations for action, she explained. The Texas board gave its approval at a meeting in January, but the final action rests with the state organization at its convention, she said.

Council to Make Plans.

The general federation will make further plans at its council meeting in Swampscott, Mass., in May for a definite procedure to be submitted to the state conventions. A state body may accept or reject the plan, but each that participates will receive half of the money raised by itself in the campaign. It is supposed that the Texas Federation will be counted in the plan until such time that the state body takes official action.

Resolutions Adopted.

Courtesy resolutions adopted at the final session of the three-day convention of the Second District Federation of Women's clubs follow:

Whereas, the District Texas Federation of Women's clubs in twenty-seventh convention assembled April 9, 10, 11, 1929, and delightfully entertained by the citizens of McKinney.

MELISSA MAN OPTIMISTIC OVER CROP CONDITION

S. H. TAYLOR SAYS GRAIN AND CORN EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD

Simon H. Taylor of Melissa says that he never saw everything on the farm looking any better at this mid-spring season of the year than it does now. Gardens are exceptionally fine, wheat and oats are good, corn is up to a good stand and being worked out, cotton planting is under way where the land is dry enough for planting. He considers it a good omen when all conditions are so uniformly encouraging and the land is in such excellent fix for cultivation and the growing of crops as it is at the present time.

Mr. Taylor owns a good farm—part of the Shirley land just east of Melissa. He is a brother of County Clerk Shirley G. Taylor of this city.

Wright of Dallas, Mrs. Vinson Jay of Viney Grove, No. 1, and Miss Josie Bomar, still at the parental home in McKinney. Another brother, Ernest Bomar, died at McKinney, August 5, 1928. To attend his brother's funeral then was the last visit made back here by the deceased.

Many relatives and old home friends are mourning the death of Ben Bomar, who was an industrious, honest, upright citizen, who always bore the good will and esteem of everyone knowing him. He was a member of the Christian church.

R. E. YANTIS, EDITOR, DIES IN DALLAS

FORMER STATE OFFICIAL AND MEMBER TEXAS LEGISLATURE

Robert Enoch Yantis, 81, veteran Texas newspaper editor and publisher, died late Saturday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. A. Wyatt, 2441 Haynie avenue, in Dallas.

He had resigned March 1, as statistician for the Texas State Department of Agriculture after seven years' service. Born July 22, 1848, in Kentucky, Mr. Yantis had come to East Texas with his parents at the age of 6. After several years of school teaching he entered the newspaper field at Wills Point and remained there for about twenty years.

At Wills Point he founded the Wills Point Chronicle and later the Van Zandter. In 1900 he acquired the Athens Review and for more than seventeen years was editor and publisher of it.

Mr. Yantis served two terms as a member of the state legislature. He was also at one time president of the Texas State Press association. He was a member of the Odd Fellows.

Surviving Mr. Yantis are his wife, eight daughters and three sons, Mrs. Myatt, Mrs. Hallie Kilgore, Houston; Miss Nona Yantis, Chicago; Mrs. Oma Osborne, Fort Worth; Mrs. George Echols, Fort Worth; Miss Helena Yantis, Fort Worth; Mrs. T. K. Harris, Fort Worth; Mrs. R. W. Painter, Dallas; R. A. Yantis, New York; B. B. Yantis, Strawn, and L. A. Yantis, Charleston, S. C.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 4 p. m. at Athens.

RELATIVE OF COLLIN FAMILY SAME NAME

The deceased above referred to, R. E. Yantis, was related to the pioneer Yantis family of Collin county. He was a nephew of Enoch Yantis, who served as tax collector and assessor of Collin county for several terms and whose son, George R. Kantis likewise served in the same office for several years at a later period.

R. E. Yantis, the deceased, in his young manhood lived in Collin county for two or three years, and at one time taught school north of McKinney. He was a personal acquaintance and friend of the editors of this paper for many years.

He was a distant relative of the Wolford brothers of McKinney, and was a first cousin of Mrs. Tom J. Melton, and of Mrs. John G. Davis, both formerly of this city. He was an elegant old gentleman, useful, public-spirited, able as a newspaper man and popular with the press throughout the state, as was indicated by the fact that the newspaper men gave him the highest mark of honor that they could bestow—electing him president of their State Press association.

We extend sincere condolence to the bereaved loved ones.

PROGRESS GOOD ON NEW POPE BUILDING

Contractor J. Ed Michael, who has had the contract to raze the F. B. Pope building, west side of the square, is delighted with the fine progress being made on the work. Most of the old brick structure has already been torn down.

Monday morning work on the foundation of the new brick that is to be erected on its site was commenced by Mr. Michael. Erection of this new and modern brick building will greatly enhance the attractive appearance of the public square and the entire business district of the city.

Mr. Michael has had a force of about twenty-five workmen busily engaged in razing the structure, making way for the erection of a new structure.

Miss Opal Cage, a McKinney High school student, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Gage in the McDonald School house community. Miss Opal stays with her aunt, Mrs. Una Birmingham, at the latter's home on North Church street, while attending school here. Her parents brought her back to her aunt's in McKinney Sunday afternoon. Mr. Cage states that he fears that he will have to plant his corn over as part of it perished in the ground before germinating. This is due to working the land early in the season when it was too wet and it dried out in a cloddy condition.

PRESIDENT TO GIVE FARM AND TARIFF VIEWS

MANY FEDERAL NOMINATIONS UP FOR SENATE CONFIRMATION

Washington, April 16.—President Hoover will send his first message to congress today by his executive clerk, Maurice Latta, instead of delivering it in person, as has been the custom of the last three administrations.

The message will set forth Mr. Hoover's views regarding farm relief and tariff revision, advising congress what the president expects from it in the way of legislation during the special session. More than two score nominations to federal positions will be sent along at the same time for senate confirmation.

The document will be read to both the senate and the house by their respective reading clerks as the first order of business and afterward both houses will adjourn until tomorrow, when they expect to get down to legislative work.

The first work of the house is the new $500,000,000 co-operative marketing bill to be brought up tomorrow. What the senate will do has not yet been determined because of the delay of the Senate Agriculture committee in acting upon a similar bill. It is probably the bill will not be ready Wednesday and in that case the senate will adjourn until next Monday, when the bill is sure to be ready.

Senate leaders do not regard the delay as serious and privately they are a little pleased about it.

"Broadway Melody" At Ritz Theatre

The writer was one of these who enjoyed "Broadway Melody" at the R. & R. Ritz theater Monday night, which is playing there today and tomorrow for a three-day engagement.

Advertised in advance as an all-singing, all-talking, and all dancing production, and starring such screen celebrities as Charles King, Anita Page, Bessie Love and others, the picture is easily one of the best ever brought to the Ritz theater. Manager Roy L. Brockman is receiving scores of compliments from satisfied patrons who saw the show Monday. Several have witnessed the picture twice and a few have seen it three times.

The Ritz was crowded to capacity Monday night, and there was a splendid afternoon crowd at the show, proving the popularity of the film.

Each moment of this great motion picture revals new miracles of the talking screen. You hear everything from start to finish, and drama, music, and color is brought before you in a most vivid and realistic manner. One of the reels, "The Marriage of the Painted Doll," is shown in color which, combined with beautiful music, makes the picture one of the most enjoyable ever before witnessed here.

The writer would recommend the film to anyone who wants to really and truly enjoy a show and have an evening of fun and entertainment.

BILL EDWARDS BACK IN TEXAS.

William C. (Bill) Edwards, formerly of the Denton Record-Chronicle is back in Texas again now as director of Texas Public Service Information Bureau, 412 Santa Fe Building, Dallas. For the past year or two, Bill, who is one of the most popular newspaper men of Texas, has been with the Hearst newspapers at Washington, D. C., and Atlanta, Ga. Bill is a past president of the Texas Press Association. All of the press boys throughout the state are glad to know that he is again back in Texas and at the helm of the Texas Public Service Information Bureau. We editors are all partial to big Bill Edwards and are always happy to cooperate with him.

NEED FREE AUCTION SERVICE.

Free auction sales service to farmers of surrounding territory would not be a bad arrangement for McKinney. It would enable the farmers to dispose of such surplus products in the way of livestock, farming implements and household furniture to advantage and with out any cost to them for the service. We need free auction sales here at least once each week. Anything that serves the best interests of our farming classes also helps everybody else, regardless of their calling.

TIMBER CONSERVATION.

Our federal government has awakened to the importance of its forests and tree conservations. Several million acres included in 42 separate tracts in the Rocky Mountains have been set aside as wilderness acres and closed to commercial use by the U. S. Forest Service. They will be preserved in the wild state for recreational use.

Foreign-born women are taught in their own homes by teachers employed by boards of education in 40 cities of the United States, according to Winifred Fisher, field secretary of Council on Adult Education for Foreign-Born New York City, writing in School Life. In many places classes for women are held in public schools, in libraries, churches, factories, hotels, as well as in settlements or other community centers, and even in railroad camps. Employment of full-time teachers on regular salary for this work is reported in 33 places, and in 18 of these places the salaries are on the same scale as those for regular elementary day-school teachers.

Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters shipped 11,395,580 tree seedlings from its nurseries during 1928. Of these 925,649 were planted on the State Forests and the remainder were planted on private land.

YOUR HOME TOWN

GLAD WE ARE ALIVE.

Monday was another of those indescribable spring days—and, incidentally, one of the many reasons why we should be proud we are living. And Monday night, likewise, was one of grandeur and beauty. You can't beat Texas weather.

IN THE FIELDS.

A friend informs us that farmers in every direction from McKinney are unusually busy catching up with belated farm work, planting spring crops and, in some instances, working out their crops that happen to be up and ready for plowing. A drive east of the city Monday afternoon revealed farmers busy in nearly every field along the highway. So many recent rains have convinced them that they must utilize every available moment they have between showers, so to speak, in doing farm work. And some one said that the onion acreage had been cut down considerably this year. Perhaps so; we don't know. Yet, drive from McKinney to Farmersville and then try to remember how many fields of onions you pass along the road. Some job, isn't it? All growers, of course, are hopeful for a better price this year than last. And we hope they get it. You can't beat the famous "Collin county sweets" regardless what kind of onion you may buy.

THEY EXIT BACKWARDS.

Had you ever noticed that a little boy, on leavin gthe theater, always backs out? Well, he does in nine cases out of ten. Why, you ask? That's an easy one for Y. H. T. The reason? He wants to get a last glimpse of the picture. If you don't believe they make their exit in this manner, just observe for yourself the next time you attend the theater.

RUINING THE SHOW.

Why is it that some people are always trying to spoil the show for others who are in the audience? Every other person who occupies a seat has paid as much as you and is entitled to the privilege of seeing and enjoying the picture—so long as he doesn't interfere with the pleasure and convenience of others. And there's the rub! One night recently while attending a theater, the picture was ruined for us by some members of the audience having a sudden desire to giggle right at the saddest part in the picture. Now, of course, we all know every scene is a sham, in that it is not real, and is only being acted. Yet when we go to a show we want to thoroughly enjoy ourselves. We want to get into the spirit of the plot, to make ourselves believe it is really happening that way. In other words, if the characters are laughing, then we want to laugh with them; if the scene is one not so joyful and is conducive to tears, then let us enjoy—if you would call it enjoying—the spirit of the scene, for it all goes to make a really worthwhile picture. Think about others the next time you attend the theater and at least try to believe that there are others in the house who have paid their money the same as you to see the show and who want to enjoy it in their own way. Think it over.

RADIOING.

We don't get a chance to radio as often as we would like, but last night we turned our set on and found the reception just about perfect. The music and other programs coming over the air from all directions sounded as though it was emanating from the next room, to the one in which we have our set. There used to be a belief that radios were practically useless in the summer. However, with improved radios and equipment one can get programs just about as clear and distinct throughout the summer as any other time of the year.

AND SOON COMMENCEMENT.

Just think, only a very few weeks until we'll begin receiving commencement invitations, after which we will see the pretty girls and timid boys marching down the church aisle to hear the baccalaureate sermon and later see them seated on the platform, the center of public gaze, ready to receive their diplomas. The spring graduating class from the Boyd High school is one of the largest in the history of the McKinney schools. Prof. Jack R. Ryan, city school superintendent says. We're all mighty proud of our high school graduates.

TERRACING FARMER OF BISHOP COMMUNITY

Thomas S. Morris, who lives in the Bishop community is doing some terracing on his farm. Arthur Ritter, another farmer in the same community has had his farm terraced for some time. Mr. Ritter is an experienced terrace builder, and he is helping Mr. Morris with his terracing operations. Mr. Morris is in the dairy business to some extent and is increasing his herd almost daily. Mr. Morris says that he is going to plant two acres of okra, four acres of onions and ten acres of cotton. Mr. Morris is strictly in favor of diversification and living at home. Collin county would be better off if they had more farmers like these two gentlemen.

DALLAS PARTY PAYS VISIT TO FARMERSVILLE

AGRICULTURAL CLUB MEMBERS STUDY COLLIN COUNTY FARMS

Farmersville, Texas, April 13.—At the invitation of the Lions club a group of members of the Dallas Agricultural club visited East Collin county Thursday to look into the farming operations and exchange views with business men and farmers for mutual information.

The Lions club wanted the Dallas group to see what could be done in the way of developing what is considered worn-out land on some of the oldest farms in this section when sweet clover and grasses are used in connection with dairy farming. They also wanted the newspaper men and agricultural editors in the party to tell them how the county could become more prosperous.

William M. Jones, secretary-treasurer of the Dallas National Farm Loan association and formerly of Farmersville, organized the trip. In the party were John T. Orr, Frank A. Briggs, editor of Farm and Ranch; Eugene Butler, editor of the Progressive Farmer, Victor H. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas News and Dave Metzger and Glen T. Jones of Paducah.

The party was met by County Agent Roy F. Saunders and Postmaser Hugo Simon and taken through the Lavon section where the Will Boyd farm was inspected. Here a giant soil-saving dam interested the visitors. Much of the land in that section had eroded badly, but is coming back with terracing and use of clovers and grasses. L. L. Miller and J. L. Purvin, president of the Lions club, accompanied the group.

The Roy E. Phillips farm was visited where some fine Jersey cattle and modern dairy barns were inspected.

At a dinner served by the Lions club Thursday night and prepared by the ladies of the Presbyterian church, Collin county products were featured.

Much interesting material was brought out during the talks, each of the visitors contributing some observations. It developed that the Farmersville trade territory is now shipping about $2,500 worth of cream weekly, while the Bermuda onion acreage and farmers are going more into dairying and live stock raising. Bankers reported that very few crop loans were made this season, as nearly all farmers were living at home and selling their surplus of eggs, poultry and cream.

Methodist Pastor At Princeton Publishes Paper

Rev. W. D. Cook, pastor of the Princeton Methodist church, was in McKinney Thursday. He is meeting with encouraging response in his labors as pastor on that work. We have seen a copy of the "Princeton Messenger," Volume 1, No. 2, the Easter edition. It is printed monthly and has much interesting news to the church people of that town and vicinity and contains considerable wholesome reading. We notice that The Messenger also carries the announcements of the other three churches at Princeton as follows: Baptist church, Rev. John Hilger, pastor; Christian church, Eld. R. C. Yarbrough, pastor, and also the Church of Christ, the name of whose pastor is not given.

Fanny Finch Spelling Team To District Meet

Fanny Finch school is being represented at the District Interscholastic league meet at Paris this week by Willard Strode and Alton Prewitt, winners of first prize in junior spelling at the county meet. These boys were coached by Mrs. Eva Manly, teacher of history and spelling in the Fanny Finch school, and they are well equipped for the battle in which they are participants.

Willard is the 13-year-old son of Mrs. Addie Strode, while Alton is the son of Mrs. Mollie Prewitt. These boys are sons of whom any mother might well be proud. Not only do they have a fine intellect, but a moral character that reflects credit on the mothers who are rearing them.

6 YEARS NEURITIS YIELDS TO SARGON

"Sargon is the only medicine that relieved me of neuritis after suffering for six years.

"I would be doing my housework, and all at once pains would start in my left side, and extend up into my shoulders, and many a time I had to go to bed.

"Then, I commenced to suffer with stomach trouble and everything I ate disagreed with me. I had taken so many medicines without lasting relief, and was so tired, worn and distressed with pain, that I was on the verge of despair. But I will never cease to be thankful for Sargon. If it had done nothing but end my neuritis, that would have been enough, but it helped me in every way, and I am feeling better than in years. I eat and enjoy hearty meals, and nothing disagrees with me. Every ache and pain is gone, my strength and energy have returned, and I feel like a different woman.

MRS. GERTRUDE McDONALD

"While the Sargon tonic was building back my strength, Sargon Soft Mass Pills cleaned my system of poisons and ended my constipation. I can never say too much in praise of this wonderful new treatment."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Gertrude McDonald, highly esteemed resident of 737 Melba St., Dallas.

STATE TO PLACE HARD SURFACE ON HIGHWAY 39

PLANS OF COUNTY AND STATE BODY ARE OUTLINED

County Judge E. W. Merritt and members of the Commissioners' Court were in Frisco Wednesday in interest of Highway No. 39, which runs west from McKinney through Frisco to Denton.

Most of the and owners on this route have signed easements for additional land in order that this road might be widened the standard width to comply with the demands of the State Highway Commission.

Tuesday of this week an engineer from the Fort Worth division office went over this road, and after an inspection, notified the Commissioners' Court that the proposed lines, plans and easements already secured were acceptable to the State Highway Department, and that the state was ready to start work just as soon as the rest of the easements were secured.

Before this road would be accepted by the State Highway Department, a lighter curve was required at the Milt Turner and M. A. Douglas corners. To meet these requirements the road will cut off about 150 feet more off the inside of these two corners.

The resident engineer gave two two routes through the town of Frisco either of which would be acceptable to the state. One route would cut through a farm of John Teel near the town of Frisco. The other route would not cut through this farm, but would pass one block north of the main street of Frisco.

The citizens of Frisco called a meeting in Frisco Wednesday morning and decided to send a committee to Fort Worth to confer with the division engineer on the remaining details.

It is the plan of the State Highway Department to place a hard surface on this road this summer.

Editor's Note.—Some statements appearing in a news story in Wednesday's issue concerning the above plans of the county were misleading, Lee Cook, county commissioner, said, hence facts above are submitted by the Commissioners' Court. The Wednesday story was obtained from a source these editors considered reliable, and the paper is glad to present this statement direct from the officials of the court with reference to the matter.

J. G. GROSS WELL KNOWN CITIZEN CALLED BY DEATH

FUNERAL SERVICES WERE HELD AT COTTAGE HILL ON SUNDAY

McKinney and Collin county lost, by death, this (Saturday) morning at 7:33 o'clock at his home, 707 West Hunt street, one of her best, most successful farmers, stockmen, business men and highly respected citizens, when Jesse G. Gross passed away to that land from whose bourne no traveler ever returns.

Mr. Gross was born in Irvington, Ky., April 2, 1862, and therefore, was 67 years and 11 days old at the time of his passing. He was educated in the common schools of Kentucky, coming to Texas when a young man, locating in the Melissa-Weston community. He engaged in farming, stock-raising and banking, and was a success in each of these lines.

On December 2, 1892 he was married to Miss Alice Smith at Weston. Three children came to bless their home. One son, Ray, passed on November 19, 1920. Two daughters, Mrs. Vane Powell of Dallas and Miss Anita Gross, a young lady still in the parental home. Three grandchildren, Rex Gross of Houston, Ritter Elizabeth and Nancy Alice Vance of Dallas, also survive, besides his devoted wife.

Mr. Gross was a life-long member of the Methodist church at Weston, moving to McKinney four years ago. He had not been in good health for the past eighteen months, and has been closely confined to his home for the past year.

Mrs. Gross is a sister of W. D. and Pearl Smith of McKinney, Ike Smith and Mrs. B. F. Choate, both of Weston, and of Charlie and Jim Smith of Celina.

Mr. Gross was buried Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at Cottage Hill, the services being conducted by Dr. J. A. Old, pastor of this city, and Rev. C. B. Fielder, pastor of the First Methodist church at Farmersville.

Active pallbearers: W. W. Smith, C. B. Smith, Ike Smith, Pearl Smith, Jim Smith, B. F. Choate, J. K. Drury, W. T. Close and L. E. Stewart.

Funeral services for Jesse G. Gross 67 years old, who died at his home, 707 West Hunt street, Saturday morning, were held at Cottage Hill Sunday afternoon, conducted by Dr. J. A. Old, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city, and the Rev. C. B. Fielder, pastor of the Methodist church at Farmersville. Interment was in the Cottage Hill cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Vane Powell and two little children, Ritter Elizabeth and Nancy Alice, were with their grandfather during his late illness and at his death.

In the passing of Jesse G. Gross a good man has gone to his reward. He was ever a kind, courteous gentleman, his word being as good as his bond. By hard work, economy and good judgment he had made a success. He was always liberal, aiding those in distress and it was a great pleasure to help those of his neighbors who needed assistance.

This editor had business relations with Jesse G. Gross for three or four years in the management of the Weston bank, Mr. Gross being one of the original organizers and was president and a director of it for several years, being connected with the bank in an official way when this writer was its president. We found him honest, honorable and clean all the way through. We liked him because he was candid and could be relied upon in anything he promised. We mourn his death, because society, our city and county has lost a truly good and honorable man.

To his loved ones, these editors extend their deep and heart-felt sympathy and trust that He, who assuages sorrows, troubles and tribulations will comfort and console his bereaved loved ones.

The Keller-Crouch Funeral Home is in charge.

MRS. LOVEJOY PRESENTS PRIZES FOR TREE PLANTING

LEADERS AMONG COUNTIES, CLUBS AND INDIVIDUALS

Mrs. J. L. Lovejoy, district chairman of the Second district on highway memorial trees planted, is very active in her special department of club work in the fourteen counties composing this district. Ten counties had already reported by Monday, giving a total of practically 100,000 trees planted by club women and others whose interest in the matter the club women solicited.

Mrs. Lovejoy is offering cash and other prizes from her own purse for leaders in this commendable work. Mrs. Van Stogner is Collin county's chairman. This county has already reported to Mrs. Lovejoy the planting of 14,366 trees which is a very good showing, but it is only about half of the number that Ellis county reported.

Mrs. Lovejoy's slogan was 50,000 trees to be planted in the Second District during this administration. Now that her goal se' has been doubled in number, she naturally feels highly gratified at the good work accomplished and is loud in her praise of the club women who have so thoroughly co operated under the leadership in rendering a great service to the state at large.

N. D. READY HAS FINISHED TAKING PROPERTY TAX

NEVER SAW MORE FAVORABLE EARLY SPRING CROP PROSPECTS

N. R. Ready of this city has just finished up his duties as deputy county tax assessor for justice of the peace of Precinct No. 1, which territory includes the six voting boxes of McKinney and also Allen, Forest Grove, Lucas, Clearlake, Culleoka, Princeton and Altoga. Mr. Ready was formerly deputy tax collector under A. T. Raper's administration. He is very competent in these lines of dealing with the public and has a very extensive acquaintanceship over the county among the voters and taxpayers.

He states, that to him it appears that Collin county has an exceedingly good start on an all-around good crop for this year.

While in the performance of his duty of visiting every house in this precinct, he finds farmers quite hopeful and encouraged over the outlook for good crops.

Grain is growing exceedingly well and corn is up to a good stand, and is being plowed. Cotton planting has commenced and some of it is already up. He never saw more early spring gardens nor better ones than this year. He says that land is in fairly good condition for cultivation and farmers have done remarkably well in bringing their spring work right up to date with such little favorable weather to work in. When they did get into their fields they made things happen fast and lost no time whatever.

VEGETATION REPORTED GROWING VERY RAPIDLY

Sam B. Vermillion, a highly esteemed Altoga farmer and citizen, was in the city. He says that vegetation got off to a slow start this spring, but after it did start he never saw things grow faster. The recent rain was helpful to some lands and crops, while other land was needing a few more dry days to allow work to proceed on it. We have long appreciated the friendship of Mr. Vermillion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ebe Kindle and children, Juanita, Edith, Genevieve, Bessie, Don, and Woodrow, returned to their home in Grayson county, just over the line from Collin, Saturday morning, after visiting relatives and friends in the Higgins school house community. Mr. Kindle and family reside northwest of Celina, just over the line in Grayson, although they get their mail on a Collin county route.

MRS. J. T. MORRIS DIED AT HOME IN THIS CITY

SHE AND HUSBAND SURVIVED TERRORS OF GALVESTON FLOOD

Mrs. James T. Morris, age 66 years 8 months and 10 days, died at the family residence, 402 Parker street, this city, at 6:45 Saturday morning. She had been in poor health for the last six months, but not confined to her bed all the time. In fact, she was downtown to the place of business of her husband on Tuesday of this week.

Born in New Orleans.

The maiden name of Mrs. Morris was Miss Lizzie E. Dobler. She was born in New Orleans, Aug. 3, 1862. Her ancestors were of German extraction. She was reared in New Orleans, where she was educated in a convent. She was a cultured lady who spoke, besides English, also German, French and Spanish fluently.

Married in Galveston.

While visiting in the city of Galveston she was married May 7, 1883 to James T. Morris, then a young business man of the "island city." They made their home in Galveston for 28 years, where they accumulated considerable property which was destroyed, and they were ruined financially in the Galveston storm of Sept. 8, 1900. However, they escaped with their lives by taking refuge in the attic of their residence, which had twelve feet of water in it. It will be remembered that in that awful night 6,000 people were drowned in Galveston alone and 2,000 others likewise perished in Galveston county in the same tropical hurricane. Mr. and Mrs. Morris were thankful that they escaped with their lives although their business and property possessions were all swept away and lost.

Came to McKinney 13 Years Ago.

They then resided for ten years in Wolfe City, but moved to McKinney in 1913, where they established themselves in the cafe business. Their cafe is located at 109 South Tennessee street, and is the oldest business of the kind in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Morris made a success of their business here by their industry, frugality and courteousness to the general public.

Last of Her Family.

The deceased was the last living member of her family and had no near relatives living. She had no children. She was a devout member of the Roman Catholic church from her earliest girlhood. At the time of her death she held her membership in the local church at McKinney.

Pallbearers were A. T. Church, Roy Caldwell, Sam J. Massie, W. A. Massie, J. M. Andrews and Albert Millstead.

Solema funeral services for the late Mrs. James T. Morris, 66, were conducted at the family residence, 402 Parker street, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Father McCarthy of Dallas. He made a beautiful talk over the remains in the home and also at the graveside, paying tribute to the faithfulness and devotion of the deceased to her husband and to her church. In his address he spoke in brotherly terms of the Protestant portion of those among the friends and mourners and members of other churches. Many beautiful floral offerings covered the casket. Interment took place in Pecan Grove cemetery. A large attendance followed the remains to "God's acre" as the officiating priest termed it. The Sam J. Massie & Sons, undertakers, directed the funeral.

The heartbroken husband has the sincere condolence of numerous friends in McKinney and surrounding country in the greatest sorrow of his life that has overtaken him.

W. L. Scott and wife and the latter's sister, Mrs. Ed Cromer, spent the day Wednesday in Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Scott live on their farm northwest of McKinney. Mrs. Cromer and husband reside in our city. Mr. Cromer has long been in the employment of the Texas Electric Railway company. Mesdames Scott and Cromer are daughters of J. A. Neel, veteran McKinney paint and paper contractor.

Bennie Sears of Houston is spending a few days with his parents in this city.

CHINESE CUSTOMS DESCRIBED BY LOCAL MISSIONARY

MISS EUVA MAJORS TALKS AT WILCOX METHODIST CHURCH

Miss Euva Majors, missionary to China from the First Baptist church, this city, who is here on a several months' visit, made another of her interesting talks at the South Wilcox Methodist church Sunday night. The church was crowded to capacity with members and visitors to hear her tell of the customs in far-away China, where she has been serving as a missionary.

Miss Majors, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Majors of this city, had several of the girls of the South Wilcox church dressed in the familiar regalia worn by Chinese ladies, which made her address all the more enjoyable. She also had with her many of the Chinese trinkets and wearing apparel which she displayed throughout her address.

Other services at the South Wilcox church Sunday were well attended. There was a splendid attendance at Sunday school, and an equally good turn-out at league services.

NORTH TEXAS PECAN GROWERS TO MEET HERE

SEMI-ANNUAL SESSION WILL BE HELD HERE THIS FALL

Pecan growers of North Texas are coming to McKinney to hold their autumn semi-annual meeting this fall.

They accepted McKinney's invitation at the recent spring meeting held at Arlington, which invitation was extended the association by W. C. Dysart, an enthusiastic Collin pecan grower, living on his farm ten miles north of McKinney.

Texas is the native heath of pecans.

It is possible to improve very greatly on the native nut by the process of budding and grafting the native stock with the larger paper-shell varieties of the nut that are worth much more on the market than the native nut commands.

Mr. Dysart says that every native pecan bush and tree in the county should be conserved and improved by budding or grafting them with paper-shell varieties.

Young trees should be set out on each farm. The world has a demand for all the paper-shell variety of pecans that can be grown.

This is a by-product of farm income that should not be overlooked.

Pecan trees also make pretty shade trees besides earning their owners good financial returns practically every fall on the much-sought after nuts that they bear.

LOCAL BARRISTER FILLS PULPIT AT M. E. CHURCH

JUDGE G. R. SMITH TELLS LIFE STORY IN ALLEGORICAL FORM

Judge G. R. Smith, one of McKinney's outstanding lawyers and citizens, occupied the pulpit at the First Methodist church Sunday evening at the regular preaching hour. His subject, "What I Saw in the Crystal," which had been previously announced, was delivered in a forceful manner. A crowd that packed the church auditorium, many of whom were visitors from other churches, heard his address.

Dr. J. A. Old, pastor, preached at the morning hour. Previous to Judge Smith's address, Don W. Bagwill, scoutmaster of Troop 3, sponsored by the First Methodist church, made a brief talk on the importance of scout work.

In the absence of Prof. Jack Ryan from the city, Add G. Wilson, assistant superintendent, presided during the Sunday school hour. The other assistant superintendent, Glen Stiff, was ill and unable to attend. At the Sunday school hour, Miss Beatrice Burgess' class was given recognition for being a 100 per cent both in attendance and collection, for the second consecutive Sunday. The beautiful flowers and decoration, on the church, brought forth the compliments of Dr. Old, the pastor.

Mrs. Roy Largent was at the organ during the Sunday school hour, while Mrs. Gibson Caldwell presided as organist at the church services.

Miss Dorothy Mouzon, favored her hearers with a vocal solo at the morning hour, and at the evening hour Dr. Bryce Miller sang. Both solos were enjoyed by the large congregations hearing them.

Urb Lucas, wife and three children of Ennis, attended the funeral of Uncle Pob McLarry here Saturday. Urb is the son of Mrs. Gab Lucas in this city, while his wife was formerly Miss Jimmie Mae Moore, daughter of George Moore, and granddaughter of the late J. C. Moore, pioneer McKinney farm implement dealer and merchant.

BELOVED OLD M'KINNEY PHYSICIAN STILL ACTIVE AT 90

DR. O. H. KIRKPATRICK WILL BE THAT OLD JULY 22—BORN IN 1839

Dr. O. H. Kirkpatrick recently rode down town with the editor in his auto. We picked him up as he had just left the home of his son, Hugh Kirkpatrick and wife with whom he resides on North College street.

Dr. Kirkpatrick is a veteran retired McKinney physician and surgeon. He will reach his 90th birthday on July 22, this year. But notwithstanding his advanced age, he is erect in body, sees well enough to read a great deal, hears well, works in his garden almost every day, and is able to walk down town and back home, nearly a mile, from one to three times each day. He walks without the aid of a cane, sleeps well and eats hearty. The doctor has gathered about him a host of acquaintances and friends among whom he practiced successfully for forty years or longer.

He enjoys mingling with his friends in a social way and conversing with them. May this beloved old retired McKinney physician have many more happy days before him in this world, is our wish.

11-YEAR-OLD SCHOOL GIRL IMPROVING AFTER OPERATION

Winona, the 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ivy Johnson, was operated on in the City hospital April 5. She underwent a major operation for the removal of her appendix and other complications. The operation was quite successful.

Winona in a junior high school student and her many friends are glad to learn that she has gotten along so well and is now about ready to be taken from the hospital back to her home again. She and her mother have apartments at 617 West Hunt street. Her mother is the office matron and attendant in Dr. J. Knight's office.

ELECTED EIGHTH TIME TO TEACH COMMUNITY SCHOOL

Trinity school, located five miles north of McKinney, has just closed an excellent term of school for this year. This was the seventh consecutive year that it had been taught by Mrs. Jessie Orenduff who has been re-elected to teach again next year or her eighth year. Mrs. Orenduff and husband live on their farm near the school she teaches.

COLD STORAGE EQUIPMENT ADDED BY COMMONS

A. J. Commons of the A. J. Commons Produce company showed this editor the latest improvement in the way of cold storage in his new building just recently completed on East Louisiana by F. B. Pope. The new fixture occupies a space 17x25, with walls 12 inches thick, and which contain 1,600 feet of 1 1-4-inch pipe.

This refrigerating plant is run by a 3½-ton ice machine, able to accommodate a carload of chickens or two carloads of eggs. A. J. Commons is a pioneer in the poultry industry in McKinney and Collin county and is a valuable asset to this city and county. The A. J. Commons Produce company is one of the largest produce houses in North Texas.

Mrs. J. W. Blurton, who has been in the City hospital for the past three weeks, is getting along as well as could be expected. Her many friends in this city hope that she will soon be able to be up and out again.

Records of a Busy Life, Number 103

Ed R. C. Horn,
1920 Concluded.

October was a fair fall month. I was in three funerals in the first half of the month. Old Sister Stutt, lone; Ben T. Estes with Walter P. Jennings and Aunt Sallie Cox with Bro. Clifford S. Weaver. These were all old people whom I had long known as friends and Christians. Two were wives of Confederate Veterans.

A Sad Move.

An attachment to a home often cause one to sacrifice the comforts of life for mere sentiment. This was true in my case. I had always planned to spend my life in the home I had built by hard labor and great sacrifice. I had thought that when my life here was ended that my funeral would be held in my yard where I had held others. In the cemetery near by lie the bodies of my parents, two sisters, three of my brothers and many other relatives and friends. I had prepared the first grave on that hill and had seen nearly all of between 200 and 250 people buried there. I had counted as home that land on which my parents located in 1858. I had called my own place home for 48 years. Now I was loading my household goods to bid fare well to those familiar, natural and artificial scenes for the rassle, tussle and bustle of city life. I was leaving the quiet of a rural home where I could lie on my summer bed and gaze up into the firmament at the myriads of stars and repeat as in my childhood the following lines:

Twinkle, twinkle little star,
How I wonder what you are,
Up above the world so high
Like a diamond in the sky.

But I had learned that we are creatures of circumstance and that plans must often yield to conditions. So while this spot was the home in which all our children were born except one (born in Tennessee) and where all lived until married and gone to a home for each of them. We had still resided there alone for several years. My wife was crippled up so she needed help that we could not always get, so we decided to move to the city, where three daughters already lived. On the 4th day of October 1920, we set up for housekeeping at 704 South Parker street. We are here with Lon Talkington on my south and Whit Kerr on my north, both former students of mine when I taught school. Also L. E. Stewart and Andrew Martin, Dr. C. T. Lewis, Henry Horn, Clen Crim, Taylor Brown, J. W. Scott, B. F. Scott, Gano Horn, W. E. Talkington, B. F. Hearne, Charles W. Graves, E. E. and Earl Horn and Joel Belcher and their families were my neighbors in my rural home. Also C. D. Neely and family and Mrs. Susan Horn. With all these neighbors in McKinney and many other friends I feel much at home. The other neighbors I miss are of a different kind—these were my stock of horses, mules, Jersey cows, sheep and hogs. I am fond of stock. On a farm I even like a faithful dog that can catch rabbits and feed himself. I was pleased to hear him bark when a neighbor was coming to see you. I see no need of a dog in the city even to feed the waste from the table. My Barred Rock fowls can use that to profit. When I moved to McKinney I brought two good Jersey cows and a couple of shoats and for two or three years I milked the cows and raised my meat. I fed corn from my farm until I sold it. For the last two years I buy a fat hog for meat and lard. I have loaned my fine cow to my son on a farm but I still have energy to feed and care for a few chickens. Since coming to McKinney, I have been honored with a free membership in the "Pure Bred Live Stock Association" but have no live stock. I am still a pure breeder of poultry. One of the members insisted on my attending just to be looked at. So for as I know I am pure bred myself and was registered in the family Bible 85 years ago. I am still leading a busy life and no day finds me idle. A large garden to cultivate at home and sick and shut ins to visit and funerals to hold prevent my associating much with the sons of rest at the court house. That association headed by Dr. O. H. Kirkpatrick assisted by Bob Huey, Wick Graves, Josh Herndon, Henry Prantley, Scott Allison, Tom Dorsey, G. M. Edwards, J. M. Lea and others will have to keep that club alive until I can find a little time to investigate its actions. After this digression I will proceed with records.

Miss Winona Johnson, who underwent a minor operation at the city hospital several days ago is getting along nicely and the hope that is entertained they can remove her to her home Sunday. Her many friends are proud to hear of her progress toward recovery.

FARM RELIEF AND TARIFF WILL BE CHIEF BUSINESS

LEADERS AT ODDS, SESSION MAY LAST ALL SUMMER

Washington, April 15.—The dryer and more Republican congress elected last fall with President Hoover convenes in its first session here at noon today to carry out Herbert Hoover's campaign pledged to the farmers.

Storm signals are flying from the masts of both houses and the atmosphere at the capitol is mixed with expectancy and doubt.

Republican and Democratic leaders are at odds over the program of business and the house and senate apparently already are at grips over the farm bill. Mr. Hoover wants to hold the business to farm relief and restricted tariff revision, but unless strong-arm methods are used effectively congress may be here all summer discussing problems of the nation, including prohibition, Wall street speculation and the social status of Mrs. Gann.

The Dallas Methodist Hospital board met yesterday afternoon at Dallas. Rev. J. A. Old, who is a member, was in attendance.

More pep-speed-power

because it's Dry!

When you stop for gasoline you buy a liquid which either atomizes or vaporizes in the carburetor of your car. Gasolines which merely atomize are called "wet" because the gas formed contains globules of raw gasoline which resist the action of the spark. These unburned drops run down the cylinder walls into the crankcase and "thin out" the oil.

The new and better Texaco is one gasoline which forms a full powered vapor—a "dry" mixture of gasoline and air which ignites instantly and burns completely. Every drop of this "dry" gasoline gives more speed, more pep, more power. It is high test yet costs no more than ordinary. Stop today where you see the Texaco Red Star with the Green T.

THE TEXAS COMPANY, TEXACO PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

WET ATOMIZED

1. A "wet gas" is an atomized mixture of gasoline vapor in which are suspended drops of raw gasoline.
2. These drops of raw gasoline resist the action of the spark and will not ignite.
3. Result: — destructive crankcase dilution—difficult starts—slow acceleration—sluggish power.

The NEW and BETTER

TEXACO GASOLINE

DRY VAPORIZED

1. The new and better Texaco vaporizes so readily that it forms a "dry gas" —a volatile mixture of gasoline and air.
2. This pure, "dry gas" responds instantly to the action of the spark.
3. Result:—lightning starts —rapid acceleration—smooth power.

Biographical Sketch Judge W. H. Andrews, Prominent Jurist

Hon. J. M. Muse informs us that Mrs. J. R. Gough, just two or three days before her recent sudden death, gave him a large and excellent picture of her father, the late District Judge W. H. Andrews, to be hung in the new district court room with other former district judges who have held court at McKinney.

Mr. Muse, who is official court reporter under Judge Frank E. Wilcox, the present district judge, is taking the lead in procuring pictures of all these judges and is completing a list as fast as he can through the co-operation of surviving relatives of the deceased jurists. However, there are several yet whose pictures can not be found, but it is hoped that relatives of friends interested will come to his assistance and provide the pictures of each of the judges of the past. The county was organized in 1846.

Judge Andrews was one of the most distinguished early citizens of McKinney and was presiding judge over district court before there was a court house. He was presiding judge of the Belew murder case about 1872, when the noted criminal trial was held in the old Christian church building that stood on the present site of the parsonage of the First Christian church. Belew was charged with the murder of a man named Golden. He was defended by the firm of lawyers then composed of Gov. J. W. Throckmorton, Judge Tom J. Brown and the late Col. R. DeArmond. Belew was convicted on purely circumstantial evidence and hanged. This was the first legal hanging of a white man in the history of Collin county.

Judge Andrews came to McKinney in 1858 and made it his home continuously for 32 years, until his death, Aug. 6, 1890. In view of this fact, his picture has just been donated to be hung up in our new district court room and the further fact that its donor was his daughter, Mrs. J. R. Gough, who died suddenly at her home in this city on April 10, we are herewith publishing the obituary of Judge Andrews, as published in our paper (then the McKinney Democrat) of August 14, 1890. This obituary gives an outline of his biography and also the resolutions of respect as adopted by the McKinney lawyers at the time of his death 39 years ago:

Died Aug. 6, 1890.

JUDGE W. H. ANDREWS AT REST.

As we went to press last Thursday we received the sad announcement of the death of Judge W. H. Andrews, of which we made a brief mention. At 4:30 o'clock p. m. of said day his remains were followed to the grave at Pecan Grove cemetery by a large concourse of mourning friends.

Judge Andrews was born in Wilson county, Tennessee, on October 15, 1830. He attended the Cumberland university of Lebanon, Tenn., from which he graduated in 1858. He married in 1856 and in 1858 he emigrated to Texas and began the practice of law in 1859. He was elected district attorney in 1862, which office he held for two terms. He was appointed district judge on April 19, 1870, and served in said capacity for six years.

About three months ago he was stricken with paralysis from which he never recovered. Day after day he lingered in a suffering condition until death relieved him. The sun had hardly reached the western horizon, the holy breeze of ambition continued to move and brighten the star of earthly hope, yet, in the midst of all, this great and good man, whose religion was to bow at the shrine of love—to devote his whole life in the interest of his family was called away from those he loved.

He was a steadfast Republican, but no political adventurer, nor chronic office-seeker. His voice, pen and presence were honestly devoted to the interest of his party. His official career was characterized by rapid dispatch of business, sound decisions and faithful execution of laws. The fiery darts of bitterness hurled by his enemies fell shattered against the walls of forbearance. After the storm of passion had subsided all conceded the life of Judge W. H. Andrews to be replete with industry and honesty. Being energetic, brave and true in resisting what he earnestly believed to be a wrong, he supported with equal vigor what he conceded to be right. He is gone, but not forgotten. The memory of the loved and lost will linger to the end of time, in the minds of those who were fortunate enough to know him.

On receiving the intelligence of Judge Andrews' death, the county court, which was in session, adjourned, and the bar of McKinney adopted the following preamble and resolutions.

Whereas, it has pleased a most wise providence to take from our midst our most esteemed brother attorney, W. H. Andrews, long a citizen of this community and a member of this bar.

Whereas, in view of his high station in our community and past life of upright and honest conduct we feel that the bar and community have sustained a serious loss.

Resolved, 1. That we deeply feel the loss to the legal profession of one whose connection with the courts of the country, both as practicing attorney and as a judicial officer, has always been marked by the highest professional dignity, decorum and fairness in its professional acts.

2. That we feel in his death this community has lost an excellent citizen, an honest man and one who was ever ready to espouse the cause of the humble and the needy in the hour of their distress, and that he was an enthusiastic supporter of those principles that he conceived to be right.

3. That we deeply sympathize with the bereaved family of the deceased in this their sad loss.

That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the courts and a copy be furnished the county press and Dallas News.

McKinney, Texas, Democrat, August 14, 1890.

Son of Pioneer Physician.

William Plutarch Lair, one of North Collin's best known, retired, old fashiers, was born Oct. 15, 1850, in Russell county, Kentucky. He is therefore approaching his 79th year.

He was one of the several sons of the late Dr. William D. Lair, pioneer North Collin physician, who brought his family to Texas in 1857 and settled on his old home farm one and one-fourth miles west of Anna. The farm is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Powell, the latter being a granddaughter of Dr. Lair.

W. P. Lair was only 7 years old when his father settled in North Collin, and has therefore been living in this county for about 72 years. He had two brothers, John B. of Anna and L. C. (Curg) of Canyon, Texas, both now deceased. He also had two half brothers now both deceased. They were: T. C. Lair of Emory, but formerly of McKinney and Galand Lair of Van Alstyne. He also had two sisters, Mrs. O. Slaughter, still living near Anna, and the late Mrs. Delia Nipp, first wife of the late George Nipp of Anna. She passed away many years ago.

Mr. Lair was united in marriage to Miss Mary Clay Portman 55 years ago. The date of their marriage was July 11, 1872.

They began housekeeping on their farm that he still owns and where he has continuously lived until since Christmas when they moved to Anna to make their home with their only daughter, Mrs. Tom Shelton and family. They deemed this necessary on account of the impaired health of Mrs. Lair. Mr. and Mrs. Lair have one son, Bryan B. Lair, now living in Dallas.

Mrs. W. P. Lair was a daughter of the late Uncle Billy and Aunt Martha Ellen Portman. She was born in Russell county, Kentucky, Jan 20, 1853, and her parents brought her to Texas when she was only 10 months old. She had several sisters: Miss Dora Bett, who died when a young lady; Mrs. Alice Gladden, now deceased, who was the first wife of J. B. Gladden of Celina; Mrs. Sallie (Jesse) Slaughter of the White Rock community, and Mrs. Florence Nipp of Anna.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Lair are faithful members of the Anna Baptist church.

NEW TEACHERAGE AT LUCAS WAS RECENTLY BUILT

WONDERFUL COMMUNITY SPIRIT PREVALS AMONG THE CITIZENSHIP

An outstanding example of wonderful community co-operation may be pointed to in the recent building of the teacherage at Lucas, about eight miles southeast of McKinney.

A modern 4-room frame building was erected by the general citizenship of the community.

It raised $725 cash with which to pay for the material used in the building.

The men of the community donated the necessary labor in erecting it. Loy McCreary the competent foreman employed on the job, also donated half of his wages.

R. P. Spargin donated the one-half acre building site for the teacherage.

The Lucas Home Demonstration club canvased and papered the building and also served dinner free each day to the workmen engaged on the building.

A new garage was also built.

The trustees of the Lucas district are E. L. Stratton and R. H. Stinson. The teachers are Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Horton and Miss Jan Perry, the latter is one of the twin daughters of Dr. and Mrs. M. O. Perry of Allen.

This splendid piece of community co-operation can hardly be equalled for its practical value and worth to the people at large by any other community in the county in recent months.

Much praise for this splendid, neighborly co-operative spirit of the Lucas community is due to the activity of the Lucas Home Demonstration club whose president is Mrs. Will Anderson and secretary, Mrs. C. H. Hefner. These enterprising, public-spirited club women not only gave freely of their services and moral support in serving meals to the workmen on erection of the building and helping to promote the enterprise in its stages of beginning, but they also gave a $25.66 cash donation on the bill to pay for the lumber and other building expenses.

Our readers are reminded that the Lucas club won third premium awarded at the county fair last fall. The club has already selected its location at our county fair again this fall and excels to be here 100 per cent strong in their support of our great county fair every fall.

BIG NEW SIGN FOR MODERN GROCERY STORE

MADE FOR C. & T. GROCERY BY C. A. TURRENTINE

Everybody is admiring the big C. & T. Grocery store sign across the front of their new brick building on Norta Church street, which the firm has just occupied. The new sign was made by C. A. Turrentine of the Scotty Forsyth shop, and is a real work of art, executed by the deft hand of Charlie Turrentine, who is recognized as one of the most expert woodwood men who ever followed his craft in McKinney. The big wooden letters are 12x16 inches in size and are painted a glossy white color, on black background.

The C. & T. grocery is owned and operated by Roy Caldwell and J. J. Thompson, who have been in partners in the business for about eight or nine years. They enjoy a large retail trade both in the city and county, and have one of the most complete grocery stores in the city.

The new brick building was erected especially for them by Mrs. Price Stiff, with her brother-in-law, Glen Stiff, supervising its construction by Martin & Watkins, contractors.

The C. & T. grocery is modern in every respect. It is sanitary and would be a credit to a city of any size. McKinney is proud of this store, which has been a constant advertiser in this newspaper ever since the business first opened up.

BABY'SS COUGH SAVES FAMILY FROM BLAZE

Awakened by the coughing of their baby son, Ward Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ward Worthy and son narrowly escaped from their burning home when fire destroyed their part of the apartment, corner Howell and Bradley streets, about 3:30 o'clock this (Monday) morning.

Occupying the apartment with them were Mr. and Mrs. William Forsyth and son, William, Jr., who were able to save a portion of the contents of their home, although Mr. and Mrs. Worthy were unable to remove a single article. In fact, the fire had gained such headway that Mr. Worthy had to take the telephone on the porch when he turned in the alarm to the fire department.

The apartment was the property of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hight, who live next door, the building being partly covered by insurance. Contents of both Messrs. Worthy and Forsyth homes were also partially covered by insurance.

Etheridge Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Phillips, who live five miles northeast of Celina, was operated on for appendicitis in the City hospital in McKinney. He is getting along as well as could be expected.

"WHAT I SAW IN THE CRYSTAL," BEAUTIFUL ALLEGORICAL STORY TOLD BY JUDGE IN CHURCH ADDRESS

The following address, entitled "What I saw in the Crystal," an allegory, was prepared and delivered by Judge G. R. Smith, outstanding McKinney barrister, at the First Methodist church Sunday night. It was so well received that these editors are publishing the address as delivered by Judge Smith. The First Methodist church auditorium was crowded by members of that church and many visitors to hear this distinguished McKinney lawyer speak. His address follows:

WHAT I SAW IN THE CRYSTAL (AN ALLEGORY.)

The crystal is supposed to reveal the past, confirm the present, and foretell the future.

As I gazed into the crystal, I saw a lonely traveler in the desert. Upon looking closer, I found that I was that traveler. There were no trees, no grass, no flowers, no birds, only the prickly pear whose beautifuly colored fruit was bitter and disappointing. I wandered on under the blazing sun on burning sands, no sound to break the silence save the hoarse croak of a raven ,that bird of ill omen. On and into the night I wandered, the stars came out, and I thought of a star that appeared nearly two thousand years ago, but I let it pass. A chilly breeze superseded the blazing sun. It seemed a dead world. No sound broke the sublime silence of the night, but the laughing howl of the hyena, whose only rival for relentless cruelty is the hyrcan tiger. On I wandered until I discovered an oasis. I hurried forward, here I thought I would find water, perchance an unfortunate companion. I came upon a pool of pleasant prospect. I wandered along its banks a lonely man upon a lonely shore. I discovered a skull upon the opposite shore and as I meditated on the mortality of man and the mystery that might enshroud the dissolution of the man of whom that skull was an evidence another skull took its place by the side of the first, then another and another and another, then they came by twos and and by threes, and by tens and by twenties, and by fifties and by hundreds, by thousands and by tens of thousands until the air was filled with skulls, and when they had settled down there was a mountain of skulls, where there had been but one.

Many whose milky white teeth with even contour and delicate mold bespake fine ruby lips and the bewitching smile that once had graced the flesh that covered them. There too were the heavy jawed, beetle-browed skulls which bespake the man of affairs who had won his place from the lower rung of the ladder to the pinnacle of financial and industrial dictatorship. There too were the high-browed and higher crowned skulls even still majestic in their appearance which bespake the orator and the statesman, under whose magic powers the populace had acclaimed them, and at whose words nations had trembled, men who had basked in the hot sunlight of fame. There too was the low-browed skull of delicate mold which bespake the housewife who should have known only the cool starlight of duty.

Turning from that gruesome scene I discovered a large building brightly lighted over whose doors were the words. "The Palace of Pleasure —Admittance Free—Enter Here." And I heard in that Palace of Pleasure the rattle of the dice box, the swish of the cards and the jingle of the coins, I heard too the tipping of glasses, the banal toasts and still more banal jests, I heard too from many throats that Baccanalian song, "We ,Won't Go Home 'Till Morning." I saw through the open door, ladies and gentlemen gliding in the dreamy waltz to strains of inspiring music. All the trees around that palace of pleasure were the deadly Upas.

I was still a lonely wanderer on a lonely shore thirsting for companionship hungry for happiness, there I thought in that merry throng I will find that companionship, that happiness, rest and peace. Yes, I will join them, in their worship at the sarine of those pagan gods Bacchus and Terpsichore. I will drink and enter, and as I stooped to drink from that limpid pool I saw reflected in its depths a beautiful vision. I stopped and looked for the cause and found above that mountain of skulls a rare and radiant being, poised on three pairs of wings from which was reflected a sheen of burnished gold. I gazed in admiration and awe. On her face rested contentment peace and happiness, only when she glanced at me a wave of sorrow would sweep over her heavenly visage. She spoke not a word, but from her mouth came letters of burning fire, "enter and die," even as those have entered and died waving her hand at that mountain of skulls, and as I wondered and trembled at that portentious message from the sky those words faded away and in their place came in letters of living light the mystic words: "Follow and Live." She conducted me up a narrow path rough, rugged and steep at the forest ascent, but growing smoother as we proceeded. She conducted me up, and up and up until we came to a beautiful garden in whose purling brooks silver waters flowed over golden sands in whose depths gamboled and sported fish of brilliant hues. The trees were not trees of this world from whose graceful fronds stirred by the gentle breeze bright plumaged birds called to their mates and sweet songsters of the forest trilled their paens of happiness and she conducted me on through shady nooks and sylvan dells until we came to a garden of beautiful flowers—flowers not of this world whose delicate tinted hues and subtle fragrance suggested a heavenly origin. Only one flower I recognized as of this earth and that flower entirely covered a cross with its bright green foliage and rare blossoms—the "Passiflora," a flower, if legend be true, that was never known to this world until after that great tragedy on Calvary's Hill, where it first sprang up at the foot of the Cross and takes its name from the crucifixion of Christ. We call it the Passion Flower. It typifies and commemorates all the instrumentalities present at the crucifixion and the crowd that witnessed it. It typifies and commemorates the Cross upon which our Savior died. It typifies the spear that pierced his side. It typifies and commemorates the centurion and four soldiers that put him to death, and who, with lance in rest, stand guard around the foot of the Cross. It typifies and commemorates the halo that encircled his God-like head. It typifies and commemorates the angry throng that cried unto Pilate: "Release unto us Barrabbas." It typifies and commemorates the Apostles who intimidated and terrified stood around the outskirts of the crowd. It typifies and commemorates the crown of thorns that pressed upon his sacred head. It typifies and commemorates the three Marys, who unable to look upon that awful Scene, hid themselves away with hooded heads. It typifies and commemorates the hard unyielding Pontius Pilate. And in the leaf that hangs over the blossom it typifies the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. A sermon in every blossom. It is the only flower that bears an edible fruit of such delicate flavor and rare aroma that suggests the fruit of another world. We heard the chiming of silver bells and immediately came upon a beautiful edifice with open doors to which the guardian angel pointed with the whispered words: "Be Faithful." I felt that from the look of exaltation on her countenance that her object in conducting me through the garden was to give me a foretaste of what the faithful may expect when they are gone to their reward.

I entered and there found a band of bright-faced children. There, too, I found maidens with happiness, peace and contentment beaming from their faces. There, too, I saw the fathers in Zion of benign and gentle countenance. There too I saw the mothers in Zion with faces wreathed in such beatfic smiles that only a slight imagination would find a halo around their heads. They all crowded around me, a stranger and travelled stained and extended to me the glad hand of welcome.

I thought, these are generous people, these are kind people, these are good people and they must be God's people, and I wanted to stay with them. Here will the yearnings of my sould be satisfied. Here will I find rest peace and happiness. The minister then preached a sermon, not a sermon of grandilequent phrases and well-rounded periods, but a sermon that reached the soul. He told us the story of the cross, a story though old is always new. It thrilled us at our mother's knee, sustained us through adolescence, was our refuge through maturer life, and is the sheet anchor of our hope after age his given its silvery coronation. A story conceived before time began and will be our hope and our refuge until time shall be no more. Its conception was sublime, its execution terrible, its effect eternal. That heavenly choir then sang a song and the song they sang was: "Come, Ye Sinners poor and needy," and my soul responded: "Oh Lamb of God I Come, I Come."

Prayer.

Oh thou Most High that hast always been—is now and will be forever more. God of Abraham, Isaac and of Jacob, hear the petition of thy lowly servant. O Lord endow us with the faith and obedience of Abraham, the patience and courage of Job and Daniel. And oh Lord we humbly pray thee to instill into our hearts the love of Christ and there let it abide to guide our erring footsteps.

Enable us oh Lord to do and perform the tasks thou hast assigned us on this earth in a manner acceptable to thee. Consecrate us to thy work through life so that when we come to die we may, by the eye of faith, see that pearly gate and we do pray thee Lord that with our last expiring breath we may be able to cry:

Hallelujah, "Joy, joy the task is done
The gate is passed and heaven is won."

OBSEQUIES LATE MRS. J. R. COUGH LARGELY ATTENDED

INTERMENT BY SIDE OF DISTINGUISHED HUSBAND, DIED 13 YEARS AGO

Funeral services were held for the late Mrs. J. R. Gough by Matthew B. Reeve, Christian Science reader of Dallas, at the family residence of the deceased, 107 North Bradley street, at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, April 11. The service was an impressive one and music was furnished by selected voices from the First Baptist church with Prof. Crabb violinist.

The deceased, who was 70 years old, was born in Wilson county, Tennessee, but was brought to McKinney by her parents when she was an infant. She was a daughter of the late District Judge W. H. Andrews, who passed away at his home in McKinney, August 6, 1890. She lived practically her entire life in McKinney. She was united in marriage February 12, 1886 to the late State Senator J. R. Gough, who died at his home in this city, Nov. 19, 1916. She is survived by three children—one son, A. B. Gough, a business man of Memphis, Tenn., and two daughters, Mrs. Ann Gough Hunter, a prominent newspaper woman of the state, connected with the Dallas Morning News, and Mrs. George Nay of Chicago. She is also survived by two grandchildren and one brother, Billie Andrews, of Bochita, Okla., and one sister, Mrs. N. A. Arter, of Warren, Tenn.

Mrs. Gough was in her usual good health until within six hours of her death, when she was stricken and from which she never rallied. Her daughter, Mrs. Hunter, from Dallas, arrived at her bedside before she passed away, but her other daughter from Chicago, and her son from Memphis did not arrive in McKinney until about noon yesterday in time for the funeral and burial that afternoon, which was directed by the Keller-Crouch Funeral home.

The active pallbearers were: Walter B. Wilson, Jim P. Dowell, T. E. Craig, Henry W. Warden, Dick Burrage, J. B. Crockett, Henry C. Barlow and John Doyle.

Many beautiful floral offerings completely covered her new-made grave. Many of them coming from other parts of the state.

The deceased was a sweet spirited, cultured daughter, wife, mother and sister. She was especially gifted in music. Her late husband was one of McKinney's most distinguished and successful business man, lawyer, lawmaker and influential in political circles throughout the state up to the time of his death thirteen years ago.

Among those coming here for the obsequies were: Her brother, Billie Andrews of Bochita, Okla., Miss Evelyn Finty, Mrs. Fred Heard, Miss Dale Heard and Miss Martha Whitaker, all of Dallas and Miss Lula Forshee of Plano and others.

The Nation's Future Market Basket Will Be Filled With Gold

Texas was originally famed for its cattle, sheep and goat raising. Then it developed into a cotton state when that crop was introduced as a means of diversifying. And now agriculture has been diversified and expanded to such a development that Texas is today the one billion-dollar-crop-producing State of the Union.

With each unfoldment of diversified farming the greatness of Texas has increased, along with her financial stability of her people. And now she is rapidly filling the Nation's winter market basket with fresh vegetables—a project presenting vast possibilities for filling the basket with gold for Texas. The First National Bank will be glad to share in the speeding of this movement to the utmost extent of sound banking principles.

Mr. Hedgcoxe breeds and deals extensively in Jersey cattle. He sells lots of cream to the milk station in Plano of the Garland creamery. He states that he has just sold three excellent registered Jersey milch cows and also a registered 14 months old Jersey bull to C. L. FORMER TEXAS SENATOR EXPIRES IN COURT ROOM

HEART FAILURE ENDS CAREER OF STATESMAN IN SHERMAN AT 12:15

Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, 66, of Dallas, one of the state's and nation's most picturesque and outstanding political leaders and statesmen, died suddenly from heart failure in the district court room at Sherman at 12:15 o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon.

Senator Bailey had just finished his argument, representing the Red River company, in the case of the State of Texas vs. the Red River Bridge company, when he suddenly crumpled to the floor. Efforts to resuscitate him with a pulmotor proved futile.

The following biographical sketch of Senator Bailey appears in the Congressional Record, issued in April, 1912, when Bailey was a senator from Texas:

Joseph Weldon Bailey, Democrat, of Gainesville, was born in Copiah county, Miss., October 6, 1863; was admitted to the bar in 1883; served as a district elector on the Cleveland and Hendricks ticket in 1884; removed to Texas in 1885 and located at his present home; served as elector for the state at large on the Democratic ticket in 1888; was elected to Fifty-Second, Fifty-Third, Fifty-Fourth, Fifty-Fifth and Fifty-Sixth congresses, on the organization of the Fifty-Fifth congress, March 15, 1897, he was the Democratic nominee for speaker of the house of representatives; was chosen United States Senator January 23, 1901, to succeed Senator Horace Chilton; re-elected in 1907. His term of service will expire March 3, 1913.

Senator Bailey had hundreds of personal acquaintances in McKinney, where he often visited. However, it had been several months since the senator had been in McKinney.

McKinney friends, when advised of his sudden death, expressed deep regret at his passing, removing as it does, one of the nation's greatest constitutional lawyers and statesmen. Bailey began his career as a congressman from the old fifth district, serving several terms, and was then elected to the senate.

His last political campaign was for the governorship of Texas, in 1920, in which he was unsuccessful.

Tributes to Bailey.

The late Senator Bailey was extensively known in McKinney and some of his staunchest and truest friends resided here, all of whom are appalled at the news announcing the death of their friend.

Former Mayor H. A. Finch, Sr., on learning of the death of Senator Bailey, said.

"I regard Senator Bailey as one of the greatest statesmen, lawyers and patriots that the United States has ever produced. The future historian will place his name in the front rank of our great men. I am one of the many thousands who loved him because of his great heart and intellect," said former Senator Finch.

Dr. C. G. Comegys, vice-president and cashier of the First National bank, when he learned of Senator Bailey's death, said: "The death of this great man is a loss not only to Texas and the Southland, but to the entire United States. His great intellect and capacity for public service caused him to quickly advance above the rank and file and brought forth the admiration and respect of hundreds of thousands of people. His memory will long remain with every friend, acquaintance, and admirer.

Dallas, Texas, April 15.—After a political career of forty-five years which was suddenly terminated Saturday with a heart attack in the Grayson county court house at Sherman, Joseph Weldon Bailey of Dallas will be buried Monday afternoon in Gainesville.

A special funeral train will carry the body to the Cooke county city following services here at 10:30 a. m. at the First Presbyterian church. Immediately before the service his body will be taken to the church from the home of his son, Joseph Weldon Bailey, Jr., 4217 Versailles avenue, where it was brought Saturday night from Sherman. Numerous friends viewed the body during Sunday at the residence.

Dr. William M. Anderson will officiate at the service here. He will be assisted by the Rev. James Gober, Methodist pastor of Greenville. Mr. Gober will administer the last rites at the grave.

Ceremony to Be Simple.

A request was made by numerous friends that the body of the former United States senator be taken to Austin to lie in state there before final services at Gainesville. As members of the family have asked that the funeral ceremony be simple, this will not be done.

The special funeral train will leave the Union terminal here at noon and accommodations will be provided for all friends who desire to accompany the body to its final resting place beside the body of his first wife in the Gainesville cemetery. The train will return to Dallas at 7:30 p. m. It will be operated over the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad.

Committee Selected.

A special committee of the Dallas Bar association was selected by Harry P. Lawther, president, to attend the services. Members are Nelson Phillips, R. E. L. Saner, W. H. Clark, Alex Pope and W. H. Reid. Mr. Lawther requested that members of the bar association not only attend the services here, but also accompany the body to Gainesville.

Sons of friends of Mr. Bailey and friends of J. W. Bailey, Jr., will serve as active pallbearers. They will be Frank Doughterty of Gainesville, J. L. Lancaster, Jr., of Fort Worth, J. E. Josey, Jr., of Houston, Nelson Phillips, Jr., Dr. Hugh McLaurin, Jr., W. H. Clark, Jr., Maury Hughes and Horace Williams, all of Dallas.

H. A. L. Greenwood And Daughter Return Home

H. A. L. Greenwood and daughter, Miss Marjorie, have returned from Brownwood, where they laid to rest their wife and mother in Greenleaf cemetery, Sunday afternoon. Mr. Greenwood's son, Edward Greenwood and wife of Austin also returned to McKinney to spend a few days with father and sister.

Mrs. H. A. L. Greenwood died at her late home in McKinney Friday night. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, April 6, at the First Presbyterian church with her pastor Dr. Robert L. Cowan, conducting the services. Her remains were conveyed to Brownwood by the C. C. Harris Funeral home hearse for burial in the Greenleaf cemetery there, where concluding services were held.

Collin County Placed In Dallas Census District

A new district has been created by the Federal Department of Census and Collin county will be in a district with Dallas, with headquarters at Dallas, according to advices received from Washington. This is in line with the plans for the taking of the 1930 census. Texas has been divided tentatively into 29 districts. The new plan displaces the former custom of making the lines conform to the congressional district. The supervisor for the Dallas-Collin district has not been named.

Wonderful Pick-Up In Crop Outlook Here In Collin

W. T. Lovell, a veteran retired farmer, living in McKinney for some time recently made a trip out in the country for some distance and around back to town again. He says that the crop outlook is wonderfully encouraging for this early season of the year. It is remarkable to him that farm work is so nearly up-to-date as it is when it is considered there was so little favorably, open working weather during the months of January and February. He never saw vegetation and foliage grow more rapidly than it has in the last few days. Corn is up to a good stand and small grain crops are quite promising. Everywhere good gardens are to be seen in both town and country.

R. L. RAY HERE FROM TIOGA FOR FEW DAYS

R. L. Ray and wife are at home for a brief visit from Tioga, where they are spending a good deal of their time for the benefit of Mr. Ray's health. Mr. Ray is one of McKinney's veteran insurance agents and successful business men, a leader in church affairs and progressive in spirit in a civic way. He is troubled with a stubborn affliction of rheumatism that he is being treated for. This editor has known Bob Ray for many years and greatly appreciates his friendship and excellent qualities as a Christian gentleman. We, with the multitude of other friends here, hope that he can soon find some relief so that he may be able to remain permanently among us and resume his usual place in all local circles in which he has been accustomed to moving during the years of his activity in McKinney.

WORLD-WIDE ROTARY CONVENTION AT DALLAS MAY 27-31 TOLD ABOUT BY SPEAKER BEFORE McKINNEY CLUB

W. T. (Bill) Martin, chairman of the Community Co-operation committee of the Dallas club, addressed the McKinney Rotary club at Friday's noonday luncheon this week in the interest of the fast approaching International Rotary convention to be held in Dallas from May 27 to 31.

This is the largest convention that will be held in the state this year. Ten thousand Rotarians will be present from 46 nations of the world. It requires about three months for the Australian and some other remotely located Rotarians to make the trip and those delegates have already started on their journey to Texas.

What Is Rotary?

Rotary undertakes to inspire men to realize fully their individual capacity for patriotic citizenship in their state and nation, to give a square deal to their employees, their customers and their business or professional associates. Individuality and through their association in Rotary clubs, the members seek to bring about understanding, good-will and international peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service.

The Rotary Club.

The Rotary club is a group of representative business and professional men, one man from each district business or profession in a community, who have accepted the Rotary philosophy of service and have organized to study the theory of service as the true basis of success and happiness in business. As individuals, each is endeavoring to translate this theory into practice in business and every-day life and individually, and as a club, by active precept and example, to stimulate its acceptance both in theory and practice by all non-Rotarians, as well as by all Rotarians.

Rotary International.

Rotary International is an organization that exists for the protection, development and world-wide propagation of the ideal of service, for the establishment, encouragement, assistance and administrative supervision of Rotary clubs and as a clearing house for the study of their problems and by helpful suggestions, but not compulsion, for the standardization of their practices and of such community service activities as have been widely demonstrated by many clubs as worth while and within the objects of Rotary.

At Dallas This Year.

All Texas is elated at Rotary International holding its annual meeting in the state, at Dallas, this year on May 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31. As stated above, delegates and visiting Rotarians to the number of ten thousand, will come from forty-six different civilized nations of the world. Besides thousands of Rotarians and other visitors from over the state and surrounding states who will come to Dallas for this epochal convention Dallas is preparing to dispense hospitality in an unstinted way to these world wide guests.

To give an idea of the thorough manner in which entertainment is being organized, it may be stated that a telephone exchange will have an operator for each nationality or at least operators who can understand the different languages of the different nations. The taxi-cab drivers and street car conductors are likewise being organized.

The first night's entertainment will be inaugurated with a pageant that will occupy a stage more than 300 feet long and almost that wide. No hall in the state is large enough to accommodate the convention, but the auditorium and other large buildings of the State Fair grounds will be fitted out to accommodate the delegates and visitors. Loud speakers will be so arranged that the speakers on the program can be heard as plainly in all other buildings as in the one where it is being given.

McKinney Rotarians Helping.

McKinney Rotarians have voted to join 100 per cent with Dallas in helping to entertain the guests. Every Rotary club in the state is doing likewise. The rooms of all the Dallas hotels have been engaged for the four days at their regular rates. No price concessions are asked by Rotarians, they pay their way at usual rates. Not only will McKinney Rotarians attend, but hundreds of our non-Rotarian citizens will also be attracted to Dallas, which is only 32 miles away, in order to see the mammoth attendance of so many nationalities brought together in one deliberated body.

Next Week's Program.

President Bill Rhea announced that Gould Reese would be in charge of next week's program which would be on community service.

Mrs. S. F. Cook, Chairman.

Mrs. S. F. Cook was chairman of a group of ladies of the Aid society of that church in serving the splendid dinner to the Rotarians for the occasion. The prominent Dallas visitor and speaker complimented the ladies for the fine menu that they served.

Dr. Walter B. McKinney and wife arrived today from Philadelphia on a three weeks' business trip and visit to Texas. They are here visiting his father, John S. McKinney, sister, Mrs. Arbie Sparlin and his brother, Edgar McKinney, and numerous other relatives. They did not bring their children down with them on this trip. Dr. McKinney and wife always receive the most cordial greetings from his multiude of old home town friends when they make their visits back here.

Sedan Overturns, Occupants Escape

Mrs. R. L. Milligan and daughter, Mrs. W. A. Fletcher and the latter's three sons, Shelby, Arthur Lee, and Grady, of Gainesville, narrowly escaped injury Saturday morning, about four miles west of here on the McKinney-Friscd highway when their car, a large sedan, overturned and went in the ditch.

They were en route to Greenville to visit Mrs. Milligan's son and brother of Mrs. Fletcher. Mrs. Fletcher, who was driving, says that the steering wheel became loose and that the car headed for the ditch, she being unable to steer the car. It is thought the radius rod, becoming loose, caused the accident.

The C. C. Harris ambulance made a call to the scene, but found none of the car's occupants injured other than a few minor bruises. The Hamilton-Patterson Motor company sent a wrecker to the scene and the car was brought here, washed and the Gainesville residents resumed their journey to Greenville.
